Empowering South Africa's Youth: UJ's Leading Role in the BPS Project

In 2018, the CSDA at UJ in partnership with UCT's SALDRU took the lead in designing an evidence-based programme called the Basic Package of Support. Now, in partnership with UCT and DGMU, UJ is driving the pilot implementation and research to test whether the BPS programme works to build a brighter future for the young people of Orange Farm.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Imagining a corruption-free South Africa: UJ students harness the power of speculative design

The creative arts possess a unique ability to challenge the status quo, encouraging critical reflection and serving as a catalyst for change when it comes to pressing social issues. Recently, on the 7th and 8th of August 2023, students from the Multimedia Design Department at the University of Johannesburg (UJ) embarked on a transformative journey by using Speculative Design in the form of a Futures Literacy Lab. Their mission: to envision a South Africa free from corruption..... Read More
